

Meet Nurse-Family Partnership's new Texas Executive Director

On July 6th, Kimberly Griffin was named the Texas Executive Director by the NFP National Service Office. Kimberly previously served the National Service Office from 2008-2012 as Program Developer in Louisiana, Mississippi, and Arkansas. Before coming back to NFP, she led the Healthy Start program in New Orleans where she worked with community partners to launch one of three Best Baby Zones cities across the country to improve birth outcomes in targeted neighborhoods. While there, she also led the replication of an evidence-based intervention for moms who had already experienced an infant loss, preterm birth, or low birth weight baby. After serving as the Director of Development for Mercy Family Center and the Division Manager for Adolescent Health Services for the Houston Health Department, Kim was thrilled to come back to NFP to serve in her new role.

She is passionate about serving families and communities by bringing the best programs and services to those who need the services the most.

Kim holds a Master of Public Policy from the Sanford School of Public Policy at Duke University with a concentration in social policy. She earned her Bachelor of Arts in Sociology from Spelman College. Based in Pearland, Kim will be responsible for the NFP program throughout Texas.

Kim enjoys cooking Creole food for family and friends and reading news, historical fiction, and international women's literature. She's also a big fan of zydeco dancing and can be found on the dance floor around Houston with her cowboy boots on.
